

EVERY HOME NEEDS A WINDMILL!

THIS is the season when poorly constructed and rickety windmills get tired of staying up in the cold. They are AUTOMATIC, and come down without the assistance of their owners! It might be said that the windmill showed good sense in coming down out of the reach of the hurricanes which we generally get at this season. But most people would object to the manner of its COMING DOWN. It is not at all particular where it collides with terra firma. When it goes it does not quibble or seem to care as to the route it will take, and generally chooses a soft place to light, such as the roof of your neighbor's house, just over his bedroom. Reader, if there is a windmill to be erected within several blocks of you, make it your business to see that every part is sufficiently strong to resist all strains which a windmill is liable to receive.

The Improved Davis and San Joaquin Windmills

are constructed under the direction of a practical mechanic who has made the REGULATING of windmills a leading study. Windmills cannot be taken down out of reach of danger, hence they must be constructed so that the REGULATING PARTS WILL ACT QUICKLY, thereby relieving the machine from UNDUE STRAIN.

The cut showing windmill and tank on the left is an exact picture of the outfits we have furnished to San Joaquin County for road sprinkling purposes. We now have fourteen windmills doing good work for this County. We think this ought to be a complete indorsement of our windmill over others which are in the market.
