

Natural color photograph of California prunes as they grow upon the trees. Below is a prune orchard in full bloom. The prune industry represents to California a yearly income of approximately $10,000,000 and is continually increasing.