 K STREET AT NINTH

SACRAMENTO RIVER is one of the largest inland waterways in the United States in total tonnage carried, and first in per ton value of cargo. It carries three times more flood water than the Colorado River, the Sacramento at full flood carrying 600,000 cubic feet per second, the Colorado 200,000.

Considering the relative areas drained, the flood volume of the Sacramento is TWELVE times as great as that of the Mississippi, and FOUR times that of either the Ohio or the Columbia.

Total excavation for the Panama Canal, which cost the Federal Government $115,000,000, exceeds the excavation work at the mouth of the Sacramento by less than 25 per cent.
